Holy Land Gifts

A representative from Holy Land Gifts will be present prior to and after all Masses on the weekend of July 25 and 26, 2020. A display of handmade religious articles such as Nativity Scenes, Crucifixes, Rosaries, and many other beautiful religious items will be made available for sale.

Holy Land Gifts represents over 150 Christian families who make a living by selling traditional olivewood handcrafts and religious articles. When you purchase one of these beautiful gifts, you are helping the artisans in the Holy Land to provide for their families who live and work with dignity in the region fraught with tension and violence.

Thank you in advance for supporting this project to keep the Christians present in the Holy Land.

Learning from the Bible The old-timers among us will remember the television personality Art Linkletter. His interviews with children on his TV show House Party put surprising twists into, well, just about everything. Here's an interview he conducted with a child on the subject of biblical nonviolence:

Art: What are you learning at school that you can tell us about?

Child: They teach you not to fight with your friends.

Art: How do they do that?

Child: They read from the Bible, where Jesus says, "Thou shalt not kill."

Art: I'm happy to hear that they've stopped the killing on the playgrounds this way. But tell me, have you been punished lately?

Child: Yes.

Art: What for?

Child: Hitting a kid in the face with a cupcake.

Art: Why did you do that?

Child: It's not in the Bible.

Small Refrigerator Needed

We are in the need of a small refrigerator for the sacristy. If anyone has one that they would like to donate we would really appreciated it. Deacon Mike

What Happend to the Apostles?

Jesus told his apostles to “go” and that’s exactly what they did, taking the Gospel to different parts of the world. Before Jesus ascended into Heaven he said to his apostles, “Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations.” Having a divine mandate to travel the world for the sake of the Gospel, the apostles didn’t waste their time. They immediately set their hand to the plow and began the difficult work of sowing seeds of faith everywhere they went.

So where did they end up? Did they “make disciples of all nations”?

Peter

It is traditionally believed that Peter first traveled to Antioch and established a community there. He did not stay very long, but he is often known as the first bishop of Antioch. After that he may have visited Corinth before heading to Rome. There he helped form the Christian community and was ultimately martyred in the Circus of Nero around 64 AD in Rome. Saint Peter’s Basilica in the Vatican is built on top of St. Peter’s tomb.

Andrew

After Pentecost many ancient traditions point to Andrew, Peter’s brother, as the Apostle to the Greeks. It is believed that he preached to Greek communities and was martyred at Patras on a cross in the shape of an X. His relics were eventually transferred to the Duomo Cathedral in Amalfi, Italy.

James the Great

It is held that James was the first apostle to be martyred. In the Acts of the Apostles it reads, “Herod the king laid violent hands upon some who belonged to the church. He killed James the brother of John with the sword” (Acts 12:1-2). He died in 44 AD in Jerusalem, but his tomb is nowhere near this location. After his death his body was transferred to Spain and is currently located in Santiago de Compostela. His tomb is the destination point of the centuries-old pilgrimage, El Camino, still popular today.

Patient endurance was on the island called Patmos on account of the word of God and the testimony of Jesus” (Revelation 1:9). He died around 100 AD and is buried near Ephesus.
